

Meghann Robinson's first independent release "Drive" is a tribute to a lifetime of happy accidents and lucky moments of unbridled belief in what can be.

STILL I DIG

Track 1 – This full band recording speaks to the still bleeding heart in the ghost of relationships past. Still I Dig is Meghann asking to be let go...but knowing all the while that if she sees any glimmer of hope...still she'll dig.

DRIVE

Track 2 – Sometimes when you don't feel like you can grab a hold of anything...it is because you are already holding onto too much. Drive is Meghann's reminder that you are not the driver, but the passenger. Sometimes the best way to find exactly what you want, is to let it try and pass you by.

NY

Track 3 – From the plains of the Midwest and the Rockies of Colorado, to the cement jungle that is NYC, Meghann questions her decision to give up everything for a chance at her dreams. In moments of clarity (chorus) realizes, "I'm exactly where I'm supposed to be, everything I've got, I've gotten by following my dreams." This track aches with sacrifice and reassures with belief...in what can be.

NEED U

Track 4 – Undiscovered love and the impending loss paint a shattered heart only willing to venture out in song. "If you fall, fall hard, fall fast," "If you love, love hard, love fast," "If you run, run hard, run fast," "Because I need you" This was Meghann's way of saying, if you want to try, really try, and try hard.
